Care of Newly Born Babies in Government Hospitals

3054. SHRI KAILASH PATI MISHRA: Will the Minister of HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to a report which appeared in the Hindustan Times dated 25th October, 1988 that babies cuddled by their mothers for at least 20 minutes immediately after birth cried less, sleep better and fed more easily than other babies;

(b) whether it is a fact that in the Safdarjang and other Government hospitas, babies are returned to their mothers after more than half an hour or so, after their birth and thus they lose an important opportunity mentioned above; and

(c) what are the instructions issued in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (KUMARI SAROJ KHAPARDE): It is a fact that immediate handling and cuddling the new born babies by mothers has been shown to be beneficial in the form of reduced crying and better feeding behaviour of new born babies by studies conducted in the west. In Safdarjung and other Hospitals the babies are immediately shown to their mothers. However, several mothers are not in a position to cuddle their babies immediately after delivery because of physical exhaustion of labour and sedation anaesthesia. High risk babies who demand specialized care are shifted to the nursery. The mothers are allowed to visit the nursery to see and touch their babies.

No such instructions can be issued in this regard as the mother has to be observed in the labour room for two hours after delivery for any complications like excessive bleeding, per yaginum etc.
